

A blessing for my home

Dear God, please bless this home.

Please bless the work that's done here, the ideas created & developed here. Please have your hand in all communicate that come from, & wind up here.

Please bless all who enter this home. Have them bring the best of themselves in, to enrich this home with. And let the best of this home tend to the pain, fear, sadness, & loneliness in them, so that when they leave, they feel more love, courage, possibility, empathy, peace, temperance, joy, & kindness.

And when I leave through the front door, let me take all of the blessings of this home, into the world, to make positive contributions, to do great work, to find out real joy, to create lasting peace, to spread healing love, to celebrate real beauty, to encourage truth, with all of those I encounter in the world.

And when I return home again, please let me leave behind at my front door, any darkness, grief, hatred, self loathing, bigotry, small-mindedness, & harmful ideology I have experienced. And help me usher into my home, all of the blessings & goodness I've encountered, so that I can integrate it into my person, my faith, my work, my love, & my family, only to bring it back out into the world again.

Amen

Charlie Pecoraro

10/25/16